

Ways to Celebrate Black History Month

Overview

Use this document to serve as ideas for celebrating Black History Month! Watch a documentary or movie, check out a website, listen to a Podcast or follow a new social media account. This list is not exhaustive, but provides some ideas to get you started.

Documentaries

- They've Gotta Have Us, Netflix
- I am not your Negro, Hulu
- Black Power Mixtape 1967 – 1975, YouTube
- 13th, Netflix
- John Lewis: Good Trouble, HBO Max
- LA 92, Netflix

Movies

- One Night in Miami, Prime Video
- Ma Rainey's Black Bottom, Netflix
- Between the World and Me, HBO Max
- Self Made, Netflix
- Sorry to Bother You, Hulu
- The Tuskegee Airmen, HBO Max

Websites

- 28 Days of Black History [https://www.28daysofblackhistory.com/]
  - A virtual museum exhibit that celebrates the Black legacy in the U.S.
- Anti-Racism Daily [https://antiracismdaily.com.]
  - Newsletter that can help you apply anti-racism practices to your daily life
- Noname Book Club [https://nonamebooks.com.]
  - A great curation of books by Black authors. They also send copies of books to individuals who are incarcerated through their Prison Book Program
- African American Literature Book Club \(AALBC\) [https://aalbc.com/bookstores/list.php]
  - A list of independent, Black-owned bookstores

Podcasts

- 1619 – New York Times
- In Search of Black History with Bonnie Greer – Audible
- Code Switch – NPR
- The Black History Buff Podcast

Accounts to Follow on Instagram

- @ijeomaoluo – New York Times bestselling author
- @sonyareneetaylor - Author & founder of The Body is not an Apology
- @austinchanning - Author, speaker, and producer
- @mspackyetti - Activist, educator, and writer
- @blairimani - Educator and influencer
- @moemotivate - Educator, author, and artist
- @rachel.cargle - Academic and writer
- @thegreatunlearn - Community of curiosity looking to ask the tough questions
- @nmaahc - Smithsonian National Museum of African American History & Culture
- @amandascgorman - Poet and activist
- @ohioma - Writer and activist
- @soyouwanttotalkabout - Discussion of social issues through infographics
- @blackandembodied - Mental health therapist and body liberation
- @beccaashmon - Mental health advocate, caretaker, and fashion blogger
- @stephanieyeboah - Blogger and self-love advocate